Thank you Determination of hydroxylamine by capillary electrophoresis in aqueous solution. A simple, sensitive, and accurate method for the determination of trace amounts of hydroxylamine by capillary electrophoresis (CE) was developed. Hydroxylamine can be determined on-line by using the refractive index detector. The main detection limits are  $4 \times 10^{-5}$  mol/L for hydroxylamine and  $4.0 \times 10^{-8}$  mol/L for the nitrite ion. Samples can be injected without the need of additional dilution, and an rms coefficient of variation of all the peaks was below 2.0% (intra-day) and 3.0% (inter-day), respectively. The hydroxylamine can be determined in actual water
