Player, a user-friendly and straightforward app that creates playlists and lets you schedule them to play at various times of the day. Create customized announcements and mix them up with your music. The program is useful if you ever want specific pre-recorded messages to be played at certain times, or at a given time interval, and all you need is a recorded announcement in the form of an MP3 file. Announcements can be anything from recorded advertisements or even live messages in case something of interest comes up. If the establishment you are using the app for is rather large, you can program it to play different playlists and have different timetables based on the given
