How to use wireless beacons as training equipment
By 2020, all sports stadiums must be equipped with medical health teams. The Health Department will be the only health staffing facility for sports venues. However, today many athletes prefer to equip training bases in specially prepared rooms. This reduces the preparation time of the athlete and ensures better integration of training exercises with his life schedule.

Specific requirements
Is the training team a FIFA system? What training base should ideally be? Are there requirements to use a wireless system or a wireless beacon card? Lately, customers have been asking "How can we use a system that will train our team?". They need to know how many access points will be needed in order for the stadium to have sufficient coverage.

For example, in handball there are both individual and group games. In addition, in the fight against the enemy, players use the so-called "field".`
