" I have seen your wife!" "She is beautiful." "I will give you my cards." "Let's see what you've got." "Well, I'm really not at the moment." "I'll call you back." "What are you doing?" "Nobody's going to believe that, are they?" "He must be bad." "Surely I've seen many cats like that before." " He wants to get in, doesn't he?" " I think he wants me to open the door for him." " He wants you to open the door?" " Come on, I've got an idea." "But I'm going to have to take him outside." "That's a bit of a long shot, isn't it?" "What do you think?" "Let's just go back to bed." "I think it's time we got up, though." "You stupid cat." "Why did you do that?" "You've made things even harder for us." "I'm so sorry." "I do hate cats." "He ruined everything." "I..." "I do like that one." " Yes, what is your name?" " Max." "Max, hello." "My wife said I should be bringing you some wet food." "Aha." "I see, yes, of course, she would." "Come in." "Come in." "That's better." "Yes." " I'll just go and..." " What?" "I'll be right back." "Yes." "Yes." "Oh, my,

3.3.3. Seizure Frequency (#sec3dot3-jms-21-00514) The general effect of the GB extract is anticonvulsant (immobility at 10 mg/kg) at 30 min after the injection and this inhibitory effect is reflected in the lower frequencies of seizure occurrence as shown in Figure 7(ref-type="fig") (for the respective data collected over the 120 min test period, see the Supplementary File(ref-type="app"). 3.4. Effect of GB on DDT-Induced CNS Hyperactivity (#sec3dot4-jms-21-00514) ----- It has been demonstrated that the high dose of DDT (30 mg/kg) had a pronounced effect on the behavior as indicated by a high degree of locomotor activity and aggression in the open field test, as well as a high level of anxiety in the elevated plus maze. The pre- and post-treatment with GB extract resulted in the significant attenuation of these effects of DDT, with the best pre- and post-treatment data in the open field test ((Table 1)(#jms-21-00514-001)(ref-type="table")) and the EPM ((Table 2)(#jms-21-00514-002)(ref-type="table")). 4. Discussion (#sec4-jms-21-00514) ===== In our study, we found that the Ginkgo biloba extract has anti-psychotic and anti-hyperactivity properties in DDT-induced CNS alterations. The observed effects are likely to be produced by the extract, rather than the single compounds, given the plethora of pharmacologically active compounds in the extract, such as flavonoids (ginkgo flavone glycosides), terpenoids and alkaloids [(@B20-jms-21-00514)]. The anti-psychotic effect of the extract was demonstrated in the elevated plus maze and open field tests, which measures 55cd1ed1c
