----- This plugin would be a nightmare to write if it was not for the translation service available on en.wikipedia.org. The website lets you type a word and translate it into other languages if you are connected to the internet. This is amazing because you don't need to go to another website or download something. Please visit Wikipedia and "Translate this page" if you haven't already and it will translate some of the words that you copied on your own. Installation: ----- 1. Copy both files en.json and en.wpd (the latter contains some extra page templates) to your %appdata%/myie/plugins/ directory (if you are using MyIE2 choose %appdata%/myie2/plugins/ instead). 2. Start Maxthon and go to menu Plugins > MyIE. 3. Click on the plugin button. For Maxthon users: 4. Edit the property file en.plugin.type=en_wiki_plugin and add your password in the text field named "username". Jcrop - F... 5.
