Side List Links Crack Patch With Serial Key

With this plugin, you can add your favorite links to your browser's sidebar. Why use KEYMACRO? Is there something wrong with the browser's default "Back" button? Are you tired of "Back" button's awful functions, such as: * "Go back one page", * "Go back two pages", * "Go back to top", * "Go back to previous page", * "Go back to first page"? If you have the answer to any of these questions, this plugin is definitely for you. Keymacro adds a button, the "Go back to previous page" button, in the browser's sidebar and will be visible only when you scroll down the page to a specific section (e.g. the footer). You can customize the "Go back to previous page" button to be the one with which you are most familiar (e.g. "Go back to top" or "Go back one page"). Features of the plugin: * Up to 3 "Go back to previous page" buttons on the browser's sidebar. * Customize the button title. * Enable/disable the button on scroll. * Have no conflicts with other plugin. * You can define custom positions and buttons in the sidebar. * You can control the size of the button. * You can specify a color. * You can specify a background image. * You can specify a text. Requirements: You need to install the following plugin: * Browser Notifications * Disable Browser Back Button * Be sure to have the plugin KEYMACRO and NOT Keymacro in your Google Chrome's extensions list. How to use the plugin: 1. Go to the plugin's option. You will find it in the Chrome's "Add to Chrome" button. 2. Select what pages you want to add the "Go back to previous page" button. 3. Select which button will be "Go back to previous page" on the selected pages. 4. Click on the "Save" button. Dependencies: This plugin doesn't have any dependencies. However, you need to install the "Disable Browser Back Button" and "Be sure to have the plugin Keymacro and NOT Keymacro in your Google Chrome's extensions list". Installation: I guess you must have already read how to add a plugin to the Google Chrome. I will tell you about this 1d6a3396d6
