... Every day she was getting more and more into the role, getting into character. She had no idea it was so difficult. It was as if something had snapped in her. The cheerfulness was replaced by a kind of irritability. And, oddly enough, this change in her was noticed not only in the squad. She was asked questions, of course, but more often than not she was in no mood to answer. And how could she explain what was happening to her, because she herself did not understand what caused these changes. And then, as luck would have it, she was assigned to the guard...
