Police searched a house in Connecticut on Friday for the suspect in a mass killing that left seven dead and another 20 injured after a gun battle broke out between two groups of men in an apartment building. Police cordoned off a building on the 600 block of Stevens Avenue in West Hartford, which they searched and cleared of occupants, according to NBC Connecticut. "The scene is secured. There is no one to arrest and we are not looking for anyone to arrest," West Hartford police Sgt. Jerry Murphy said. Several law enforcement agencies, including the Connecticut State Police, Hartford Police Department, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms were called to the scene. Police said they had no information on a motive for the shooting that started shortly before midnight Thursday. The victims were taken to area hospitals, where six were listed in critical condition and one was in satisfactory condition. Five of the victims were found dead inside the apartment, according to the Hartford Courant. Police said it appeared that the male shooting suspect was hit by one of the rounds but authorities had no information on whether he was wounded. The Hartford police said the gunman and two others were taken into custody at the scene after exchanging gunfire with multiple police officers. Two suspects were arrested at the scene and another was taken into custody a few hours later, Hartford police Sgt. Armando Garcia said. An unidentified victim's family, however, expressed their frustration at the fact that the man was not a suspect. "Our family will not be satisfied until my uncle is charged in the shootings. He will be charged with murder," the family said in a statement through a lawyer, the Courant reported.Thursday, May 27, 2009 Breathing Is Hard My very own health (blog?) is in its own troublesome state now because of the cold I picked up at work and caught again on the train ride home. I was feeling so much better on my way home this time last week and now it's back to coughing and sniffling every couple of hours, and wheezing because of it. I've been icing off my face and blowing my nose so many times in the last four days that it's not even funny. The worst part is I'm so sick I don't think I'll be able to get into Motsumi tonight. It's already a half hour since I got there
