Q: Zooming out with eigenjs and cesium How can I make Cesium render a map in zoomed out mode by default? Currently, the user must click on "Fullscreen" first to get the map to zoomed out. I want to provide a map that zooms out automatically, without the user having to click. A: The zoom level of Cesium-based views can be altered from the default level of 1 to level 2 or 4 as described in this documentation. The level of the default zoom value is controlled by the defaultZoomLevel attribute on the viewer:

A pilot study of the use of interferon-alpha for the treatment of hepatocellular carcinoma. Twenty patients with biopsy-proven hepatocellular carcinoma were treated with 2 million IU interferon-alpha (IFN-alpha) daily for 2-3 months. No patient had a clinically significant response to IFN-alpha, with the only observed changes being in tumor size (average 1.1 cm decrease) and/or number (average 0.18 decrease). Overall survival after IFN-alpha therapy was 21% at 6 months and 6% at 1 year. Sixteen patients (80%) had pathological or clinical evidence of active hepatitis. IFN-alpha therapy was well-tolerated with mild clinical effects including dryness of the mouth, arthralgia, fatigue, and anorexia; no patient had a severe effect of therapy. In conclusion, IFN-alpha does not improve survival in patients with hepatocellular carcinoma, and the mild clinical effects observed indicate that IFN-alpha may be a poor choice for first-line palliative therapy.

How to Improve Customer Service Service can sometimes be described as the sum total of all the interactions between you and your customers. It's made up of all the things you do for them and how they respond to them. There are a number of techniques you can use to improve the service you provide, from effective communication to ad-libbed compliments. Here are some ideas on how you can improve the service you provide:

1. Focus on the Customer The first step is to focus on the customer. They are at the heart of everything you do. Your attitude, your behaviour and your approach to resolving a problem are all important.
2. Rely on Data You need to know what you're doing to improve service. You need to use the data you have to find out where things need to be changed and what you need to be doing to get there. Start by setting up goals, evaluating how you're doing and checking out what the results are.
3. Don't Get Too Complacent A lot of organizations are too comfortable. They're operating under the assumption that things are fine. This is a mistake. There will always be something you could do better.
4. Listen, Ask and Answer Actions, communication and the answers they prompt are vital to service. If you're not sure what you should be doing, ask. If you're not sure how to provide the answers you're looking for, ask.
5. Stay Vocal Stay vocal about what's happening. Don't run away, don't hide. Keep pushing for answers and speak up about any problems.
6. Don't Take Shortcuts As much as you want to do something quickly, you need to do it with care. If you take shortcuts, you're likely to end up making things worse.
7. Be Timid and Safe As much as you want to speak your mind, it's important to be cautious and careful to not damage relationships.
8. Be Bold If you feel you need to take a risk, go for it. Don't let fear stop you from pushing the envelope. If you feel something is important to do, then take the risk.
